San Diego Community is preparing for HOPE in the Park. The event will offer a host of activities for everyone, including resources and information for parents, teenagers, caregivers, educators and community leaders.

We will begin the day with the entire San Diego community engaging in Regional Walks throughout the County, honoring those who have lost their life to family violence. All regions will come together and meet in Balboa Park to spend a day together—laughing and playing, creating positive interactions and building community resources. We will end the day with a candle light vigil sending a resounding call of action to our community to prevent future violence.

The San Diego Domestic Violence Council, San Diego County Commission for Children, Youth & Families and Operation for HOPE Foundation are the coordinating bodies for HOPE in the Park.

Collectively we welcome you to attend this important community-driven event in San Diego, on October 9, 2010
